PREAMBLE

The “Fundació Institut Barcelona d’Estudis Internacionals (IBEI)” (Barcelona Institute of International Studies Foundation) is a non-profit organisation with full legal status and capacity to act, since the conversion of its Founding Charter into a public deed and its registration at the Foundations Register of the Generalitat de Catalunya. IBEI, as established in Article 1 of the Order UNI/253/2004, of 16 July, is an inter-university research institute, in accordance with Article 10 of the Universities Act 6/2001, of 21 December, and Article 23 of the Catalan Universities Act 1/2003, of 19 February.

Article 14

Academic Promotion of the IBEI Staff

14.1. IBEI's academic staff with a temporary contract can opt for permanent tenure, as long as this possibility was formalised explicitly at the beginning of their contract.

14.2. The evaluation process will begin with a written request by the applicant to the Director of the Institute, when the researcher considers appropriate, given his/her academic results. The request cannot be made during the first year of a contract with the Institute. Furthermore, if the applicant does not request the evaluation by the end of the contract period, the Institute's commitment to consider granting a permanent contract will have expired.

14.3. The evaluation process shall consist of the following phases:

14.3.1. Once the request is received, the Director will convene a commission to examine the case. The commission will be chaired by the Director who will choose two researchers to be part of the commission. One of them will have no institutional or contractual link to the Institute, but take into account the applicant's research area.

14.3.2. The commission will examine the applicant's curriculum vitae, his/her publications and other additional material, and will also request written reviews on the quality of the publications from at least five specialists in the applicant's area of research.

14.3.3. If the decision is positive, the Director will transfer the proposal for permanent appointment to the International Academic Council and request a brief report from the President, following discussion amongst its members on the aforementioned proposal for permanent recruitment.

14.3.4. Finally, the permanent appointment of the applicant researcher must be approved by the Board of the IBEI, at the request of the Director of the Institute. To give its approval, the Board of the Institute will require the report from the International Academic Council, and the applicant will need to have a reference from a university evaluation agency, which enables him/her to apply for tenured positions in public universities in Spain.

14.4. The Board of IBEI will establish, when necessary, a similar process to regulate promotion from associate professor to research professor at IBEI.

Article 15

Process for the Incorporation of Research Associates

15.1. To become Research Associate of IBEI, the request must be addressed to the Director of the IBEI, outlining the task to be developed and any other circumstances considered of interest. The request must be examined by the Academic Staff Commission and approved by the Board of IBEI.

15.2. Once the Commission has issued its report, and before the Board considers his/her affiliation as Research Associate to IBEI, the applicant must request that the Vice-Chancellor of his/her university certifies that they belong to the institution, and follow the specific process established by their university. Affiliation to IBEI will be for four years and can be renewed in accordance with the process provided for.

15.3. For Research Associates, a specific agreement with each university or research centre will determine the management of research projects, the distribution of project overheads, and other organisational aspects related to Research Associates. In all cases, publications by Research Associates must state dual association to their institution and to IBEI, so that their research activity is reflected in both areas.
